

Learning about games from the past

- We looked at a painting called "Children's Games" by Pieter Bruegel.
- In the painting we looked hard and tried to find out what games the children were playing, some of them were playing leap frog, hide and seek, jacks, spinning tops, hobby horse races, stuck in the mud type games and running races.
- We also asked our mums and dads what kind of games they played when they were little . Then we tried out some of the games from the past and some of the games our mums and dads played.

We had a go at leapfrog, it was very tricky to do!

Playing hide and seek

Ready or not here we come!

Playing hop-scotch

Playing stuck in the mud

Playing “Annemaria Koekoek”

